Dennis' Blog

This month, this space is reserved for the final of three pieces focusing on the DLP project. Below, City of Marquette Director of Community Development Dennis Stachewicz (pictured at right) describes the planning process and associated administrative actions supporting the project. Comments or questions can be directed to (906) 225-0425 or dstachewicz@mqtcty.org.

On Sept. 8, 2014, the Marquette City Commission approved and signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with Duke LifePoint (DLP). The agreement spells out commitments to facilitate the construction of a new regional medical center in downtown Marquette on the former Roundhouse Property and on the adjacent Municipal Service Center property. As the community embraces the excitement of the moment, one may ask "when will we see a hospital and how will this affect the downtown?" Hopefully, I can use this space to address those questions to an extent.

For a developer, such a large-scale project has an extreme number of moving parts, including a Purchase Agreement, a State of Michigan Certificate of Need and State approval of a Brownfield Plan (most importantly, this provides financing). In addition, there is a large amount of planning and design work related to transportation, infrastructure and the actual medical campus. Of course, there is the need for local and State permits, as well as constant construction coordination.

That said, much of that is already in motion. A purchase and sales agreement is being negotiated and the Marquette Brownfield Redevelopment Authority drafted an Act 381 Brownfield Plan, and on Feb. 24, the State gave a key approval to that plan. This means that as DLP constructs the new hospital and adds value to the property, the Brownfield Authority will be able to capture the increase in taxes. These funds will be used to offset some costs of development, including those related to infrastructure improvement and to relocating the Municipal Service Center. City CFO Gary Simpson spoke to this at length in the previous blog, but it's worth highlighting, as the tax capture helps in the Economics of Place.

In the meantime, DLP has been meeting monthly with permitting agencies from the City, County and State, and has begun drafting plans for a new hospital. Included in this planning process is the responsibility of the City to design infrastructure upgrades, and to work with the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) and the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) to ensure that a proper transportation planning and design process results in the best transportation alternatives for the development. It is anticipated the hospital design will soon reach the stage where DLP will seek community input, request a Certificate of Need from the State of Michigan, and begin seeking permit approvals. Meanwhile, the City, MDOT and the FHWA continue to navigate the community transportation planning process.

So when will we see a new hospital? Given the above, one would be led to believe that construction is a long ways off, however, the professionals that work in the engineering, planning, trades and construction business are fluent in ensuring all moving parts work together, and construction could begin on the hospital prior to the end of the year. Although this development seems complicated, there is undoubtedly an end game with a positive net effect on the community, specifically the downtown and former hospital campus districts.

In the 21st Century, people choose to settle in places that offer the amenities, social and professional networks, resources and opportunities to support thriving lifestyles. Likewise, communities attempt to attract and retain talent – especially young, knowledge-based talent – by focusing on how best to take advantage of their unique assets. Therefore, retaining DLP in the City of Marquette becomes a vital part of our comprehensive economic development strategy.

The new hospital adjacent to downtown will retain employment by DLP, and will provide opportunity for growth in the form of "indirect" jobs. These are not offered by DLP, but stem from the new hospital location and include jobs in retail, restaurant, hospitality, construction, transportation, and education fields, among others.

Combine the assured investment by DLP with the SmartZone strategy, as well as burgeoning opportunities that will be facilitated through adaptive re-use of the existing hospital, and you have a great prospects for the community. Through Brownfield tax capture, this process will also allow for key infrastructure improvements. For instance, the intersection at Grove Street and U.S. 41 has been identified as one of the more dangerous intersections on US-41 in Marguette County.

This process is complicated and will take time to begin really taking shape, but it is important to realize that since September, much effort has been devoted to planning related to the new hospital. All parties remain committed to moving forward in a positive manner, and in compliance with the MOU, which established that first broad framework.

Community Master Plan Draft Completed

The Marquette City Planning Commission and Marquette Community Development Department are pleased to announce that a draft of the updated Community Master Plan (CMP) has recently been completed. The project to update the Master Plan was launched in May of 2012 with a series of six public visioning workshops and a photo contest.

The updated CMP contains completely new recommendations for the improvement and maintenance of a wide variety of community assets and other elements, including housing, land use, transportation, waterfront activity, community services, the natural environment, public health, arts and culture and heritage preservation.

Most likely, the Planning Commission and City Commission will soon hold a joint work session in order to review the draft of the CMP. This meeting will be announced through the media and on the City's website at www.mqtcty.org.

Once released to the public, the document will be available for viewing at the Peter While Public Library, Northern Michigan University's Olson Library, Marquette City Hall (300 W. Baraga Ave.), and online at majcty.org/plan-community.php.

There will be a period during which public comments will be accepted; after the comment period, a public hearing will be held to consider adoption of the CMP.

"The Community Master Plan is the principal resource for appointed and elected officials in moving our City forward," City Planner Dave Stensaas said. "It is a completed puzzle that contains pieces of other important guiding information, and it is organized so that it is easy to understand what the Planning Commission found is important to the people of Marquette. And it is the foundation on which the health, safety and general welfare of the community are protected via the land use ordinances that the City upholds."

The most recent plan (pictured inset) was adopted in 2004.

The Planning Commission meets on the first and third Tuesdays of each month at 6 p.m. in City Hall, and their agenda is available from the Community Development office and the City's website.

If you have any questions or would like to be placed on a notification list for the public comment period and the public hearing, please contact the Planning Division at City Hall, by phone at 906-225-8103, or via email at planner@mqtcty.org.

Lakeview, Marquette, Looking for 2015 Hockeyville Title

Lakeview Arena is in the running to be named Hockeyville USA! Hockeyville USA is a spirit competition that shows pride in our local hockey and figure skating communities and one that could result in some pretty neat prizes, like $150,000 worth of arena upgrades, the honor of hosting an NHL exhibition game and the title of Hockeyville USA.

Through March 18, residents can make their voices heard by telling their stories and nominating Lakeview Arena. Each nomination is a short written statement (2,500 characters or less) about what Lakeview Arena (and hockey or skating) means to the author, and to the community.

The nomination process is very simple:

- 1: Go to www.krafthockeyville.com.
- 2: Click "Find My Rink" and search for "Lakeview Arena" and select the appropriate option.
- 3: Click "Nominate This Rink." At this point, you'll also need to register for an account.
- 4: After logging in, simply share your story. You can also add photos if you'd like.

Each submission is reviewed within 24 hours and judges evaluate each submission, rating it based on creativity/originality, community spirit and a passion for hockey. You are allowed (and, of course, encouraged) to enter three submissions.

The initial nomination period ends March 18, the night of the annual Pigs-n-Heat Charity Hockey Game. Judges will then select the top 10 nominations, which will then move on to online voting rounds, which will begin April 14.

Fans can start the short process to nominate Lakeview Arena for the title of Hockeyville USA by going to www.krafthockeyville.com.

This is a great opportunity not just for Marquette hockey and figure skating, but for Lakeview Arena, a community center that has been proven invaluable to the Marquette area. Marquette, and Lakeview, has a rich tradition and history of hockey.

Our story needs to be told!
