Two years ago this September I decided to make a career shift by accepting a position in the City Manager’s Office. In my current role as Management Analyst, I’m now continuously learning about the City’s “front-end,” in other words, what the City of Marquette does as a local government interacting with its residents and how it works together with state and federal government as well. In this office, we work with many residents, government officials, community businesses, volunteer committee members and advisory boards to the City Commission, as well as with the City Commission itself and the City Administration, as Bill stated in my introduction. Working in this office puts City government in a totally different light than my old position. I recently had the opportunity to speak with appointed government officials from across the Upper Peninsula. A common theme among these conversations was that Marquette is a leader for other U.P. communities. Our special events, waterfront safety initiative and innovative use of technology are just a few of the things we’ve done that set a precedent for other municipalities.

I have enjoyed serving alongside some of Marquette’s most dedicated public servants and learning from their experiences to foster my own. As challenging as the issues are that we encounter on a daily basis, I’ve come to realize that many of the people serving this community are top-notch, service-above-self individuals. Working in this type of position is relatively thankless -- the real reward is knowing that other communities can reap the seeds we sow too.

I remember when I was younger, I put on my bucket list “understand the government.” I never ... Continued on page 6

Lakeview Storm Drain Water Quality Improvements Planned

The Great Lakes Restoration Initiative (GLRI) is a highly competitive Environmental Protection Agency grant program to protect water quality and restore important habitat, and is open to communities in the eight Great Lakes states. The City of Marquette was recently awarded a GLRI grant in the amount $179,700 to improve the quality of storm water runoff entering Lake Superior and restore native wetland plants that can also filter pollutants and improve water quality conditions at adjacent public beaches.

The City of Marquette, in cooperation with the Superior Watershed Partnership, Northern Michigan University and the Marquette YMCA are collaborating on a unique design that incorporates natural features, improved public access and public education in addition to improved water quality and environmental restoration. The Lakeview GLRI project is scheduled for implementation during the 2014 field season and is being featured as an example of innovative collaborative design at the Department of Environmental Quality statewide Green Infrastructure Conference (May 8-9) in Lansing and the Great Lakes Cities Conference (June 18-20) that was held in Thunder Bay, Ontario. Garage Fire Safety Tips from the Marquette Fire Department

Garage fires tend to spread farther and cause more injuries and dollar loss than fires that start in all other areas of the home.

You can keep your home safe by following a few easy tips:
- Store oil, gasoline, paints and varnishes in a shed away from your home.
- Keep items that can burn on shelves and away from electric appliances.
- Plug only one electric appliance into an outlet.
- Temporary extension cords should not be used in lieu of permanent wiring.
- Mount a class ABC portable fire extinguisher in your garage.

Downtown Marquette Farmers Market Underway

The Downtown Marquette Farmers Market is open for the season, running every Saturday through October 25, 2014, from 9 a.m. – 1 p.m. at the Marquette Commons, 112 S. Third Street.

There is a wide variety of vendors—farmers with fresh produce, maple syrup producers, honey, chocolatiers, baked goods and lots of gift quality, hand-crafted goods. The market features live music every week from 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

When you come to the market you will notice some changes in the plaza area of the Commons. The reconfiguration is the result of a grant the Marquette Downtown Development Authority received to expand the space to allow for more vendors to participate in the Downtown Marquette Farmers Market. We are excited about these changes.

On July 26, the market will proudly host its 5th Annual Blueberry Pie Contest. Make your best pie and join the fun, with prizes for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place. All ages are welcome, and participation is free.

There is plenty of parking on the north and south side of the market, as well as bike racks and a doggie hitching post at the west end of the market. The Downtown Marquette Farmers Market accepts credit/debit cards, Bridge/SNAP/EBT, Project FRESH and Market FRESH. Double Up Food Bucks are available. For more information on the market, visit www.mqtfarmersmarket.com.

Marquette Firefighter’s Union “Fill the Boot”

Again this year, look forward to seeing the Marquette firefighters on July 25 and 26 at various intersections in Marquette participating in the “Fill the Boot” for Muscular Dystrophy Association fundraising event.

Look for the firefighters on Friday, July 25th, 3-6 p.m., at the intersections of Third Street and Hewitt Avenue, and McLellan Avenue and Cleveland Avenue. They will again be out on Saturday, July 26, 11 a.m.-4 p.m., at the intersections of Front Street and Washington Street, Fair Avenue and Pine Street, as well as Third Street and Hewitt Avenue.

Each year, this incredible group takes their passion for the MDA mission to the streets and includes the generous support of our community in their efforts. You make us proud!

saw myself working for the government, but it’s funny how things work out. I’m more grateful now than ever for the opportunities I’ve been given and think of being a public servant as a noble calling. It was Benjamin Franklin that said “The first mistake in public business is the going into it.” And he’s right, once you’re in, you realize you’re never leaving—at least part of me will always be a public servant because the values I’ve inherited are engraved on my heart. Integrity is the willingness to do what is right, even when no one is looking. Being a public servant is about integrity and putting your personal interests aside to serve the greater good. The values gained as a public employee are with us forever, and that’s not a bad thing.

West Washington Street Infrastructure Project Planned

On June 12, 2014, the Marquette Downtown Development Authority (DDA) Board of Directors approved the funding for street repair and improvements for the 200 block of West Washington Street. This much needed infrastructure project will include complete removal and replacement of the curbing, installation of stamped concrete and addition of street trees.

The Marquette City Engineering Department will be designing the project and the project will be bid and managed through City staff. It is anticipated that the City Commission will take action on the bid award at their July 28 meeting with an approximate project start on August 14, 2014 and anticipated completion date of September 30. According to the Engineering Department, vehicular traffic will continue; however, no parking will be permitted on the 200 block of West Washington Street during the project. The DDA will provide media information promoting additional parking locations for customers and clients.

The project will be phased beginning with the removal of the curb, gutter, and pavers on the south side of Washington Street. Phase II will involve removal of the curb, gutter and pavers sidewalk on the north side of Washington Street. Pedestrian access will be maintained on the south side and access to businesses on both sides will be maintained to the greatest extent possible.

Phase III will be the replacement of the curb and gutter, stamped concrete, sidewalk, etc. We will maintain close coordination with all businesses, residents, and the post office to ensure access is maintained during business hours.

Prior to construction, the DDA will hold a pre-construction meeting with all property owners and businesses to answer questions and provide project information. During construction, weekly update meetings will also be held. “While it is recognized that the project will be disruptive we will work to minimize that disruption as much as possible,” said Mona Lang, DDA Executive Director. “We look forward to a successful project for this important and busy block of our downtown.”

Senior Arts Program Inspires New Artist

Last year, after decades of living in Humboldt, John Ruusi and his wife retired to Marquette. Ruusi left behind his woodworking and blacksmith shop in Humboldt, a place he would spend his days operating the lathe and carving wood. A friend suggested he take his newly discovered free time in Marquette to try something different. In January, he signed up for his first watercolor class with Corbin Lutz at the City of Marquette Arts and Culture Center (MACC). “Being the only male, the ladies encouraged me although I had never painted except the barn and the house,” said Ruusi. “I am color blind but they saw some potential and I found it very relaxing and fun.”

Soon Ruusi was enrolled in all the Senior Art classes at the MACC. He bought his own paint supplies for projects at home, and is now working towards a Bachelor of Science degree in Art History at Northern Michigan University. Ruusi credits his experiences in the Senior Arts program for inspiring his decision to pursue an art degree. He also encourages other seniors to participate in these classes, especially men looking for a quiet activity that keeps one “thinking outside the box.” The courses are offered every other week and instructed by a different professional artist with a new medium each month. This program provides an opportunity for community members ages 60 and older to try something new, whether it is dancing, painting, drawing, or acting with no commitment and no experience required.

“I’m 75, so it just goes to show an old dog can learn new tricks.”

The lower harbor ore dock, formally known as the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Ore Dock No. 6, was originally constructed in 1931. The dock served as a major link from the mines to the west to the shipping lanes of Lake Superior. The dock is roughly 970 feet long by 66 feet wide and 86 feet high above the water surface. The dock sits on wooden pilings that extend down below the water surface over a hundred feet.

The ore dock (pictured above) was last used in 1971 and has since been left unattended. The City of Marquette took over ownership of the ore dock and adjacent railroad properties in 2002. The City hired GEI Consultants in the fall of 2013 to assess the condition of the ore dock. Part of this assessment requires field investigation of the ore dock structure not only above, but below the water surface.

GEI Consultants performed the above water surface inspection. Inspection included the assessment of the existing concrete cap, columns, and beams. In addition the top of the ore structure, ore chutes, and ancillary equipment was investigated and assessed. A three person team of specially trained and certified personnel assessed the top of the structure by use of a two rope climbing system.

GEI Consultants along with Collins Engineers started their field investigations on June 2, 2014. Investigations were completed during that week. GEI Consultants inspected everything above the water surface while Collins Engineers inspected the structure below.

Inspection below the water surface was performed by use of Collins Engineers’ divers experienced in underwater structural surveys. Core samples were taken from the wooden pilings along with photo and video surveys.
Lower Harbor Ore Dock Structural and Condition Study Update

The next phase of the study will include the analysis of the field information, preparation of a condition survey report, and a structural stability analysis. A complete report and presentation will be provided to the City Commission in September.

City of Marquette Recycling Update

The City of Marquette's new recycling program has been in effect for approximately two months. As residents continue to acquaint themselves with this new system, a handful of common questions have arisen - they are addressed below.

My recycling was placed curbside but it wasn’t picked up and a sticker was placed on the bin. What did I do wrong?
As they move through their route, workers for the City's hauling company must make quick decisions on whether the material placed curbside fits the criteria for the system. Common reasons for recyclables to be left behind include:

- Materials are placed out on the wrong week
- Fiber and rigid materials are mixed in the same container
- Materials are placed in plastic bags
- The weight of the container of recyclable materials is more than 30 pounds

Additionally, materials will likely be left on the curb if they contain pizza boxes, films or other non-recyclable materials.

What items are considered NOT recyclable?
The following materials are not recyclable through the City at this time:

- Foams
- Wax Items
- Photo Paper
- Photographs
- Films (plastic bags, plastic wrap)
- Food – coated foils
- Pizza boxes
- Bubble wrap (envelopes and/or packing material)

Why can’t we place items in a plastic bag? I have been doing it for years.
With the implementation of this partnership with the Marquette County Solid Waste Management Authority for recycling, there are some sorting processes that are no longer available. Plastic bags filled with various materials greatly complicate the MCSWMA's sorting process. Plastic bags can be reused at home or returned to some local stores for recycling.

I placed a pizza box with my other fiber materials for curbside collection, but nothing was picked up. If it’s all fiber material, why didn’t they pick it up?
As pizza boxes are often coated in grease or food products, they will not be accepted through the curbside pickup and loads containing pizza boxes may be left behind. Rather than being tossed in the garbage, though, pizza boxes can be recycled though the organics dumpster, which is located in the parking lot of the Municipal Service Center at 850 W. Baraga Ave. At this time, curbside organics pick-up is not available in the City, but any organic items can be recycled utilizing the organics dumpster. For a listing of all acceptable organic material please visit us online at: www.mqtcty.org/pworks-recycle.php.

I understand that there is a set schedule alternating between weeks for fiber and rigid collections, but I accidentally placed the wrong material on the curb. What can I do with my recycling instead of holding onto it for another two weeks?
There are large containers available in the parking lot of the Municipal Service Center, located at 850 W. Baraga Ave., for residents to drop off their recycling at any time. The containers are located on the east side of the parking lot. Recyclables can be dropped off 24/7 for your convenience.

Hiawatha Music Co-op Celebrates its 36th Traditional Music Festival!
Written by Susan Divine, Executive Director at Hiawatha Music Co-op

Join us as we commemorate 36 years of Traditional Music at the lovely Tourist Park campground in Marquette. This is a family-oriented, music-filled weekend on the beautiful shores of the recently redesigned and filled Dead River Basin lake.

The Hiawatha Music Co-op will once again bring top-quality traditional American music and dance to Marquette for its 36th Annual Hiawatha Traditional Music Festival, July 18-20, at the Marquette Tourist Park. This year’s Mainstage line-up promises to please everyone with local, regional, national musicians and world traveling musicians. The Mainstage on Saturday and Sunday will feature the music of Teada, Robin and Linda Williams, Ventucky String Band, Hart, Harp & Bones, Run Boy Run, Good Lovelies, Susan Werner, Johnathan Byrd, The String Doctors with Joel Mabus & Ray Kamalay, and the Woodland Sky Native Dance group. Music genres range from bluegrass to old timey to swing to Celtic/Irish to blues and individual singer/songwriters.

The Festival will kick off with the Friday night dance, starting at 7 p.m., featuring foot-stomping bands and lively dancing. In addition, most Mainstage performers, as well as local and regional musicians, will present small workshops throughout each day on Saturday and Sunday.

In the Teen Scene, Hiawatha’s younger set will enjoy dance and workshop appearances by the return of Dragon Wagon and new to Hiawatha teen scene, Tin Can Gin. Crafts and other activities designed for teens will also be featured. The youngest Festival-goers will enjoy a busy line-up in the Children’s Area, with child-friendly crafts, workshops, music and stories, the Maypole and the Sunday-afternoon Kids Parade to the main stage.

Another important Festival tradition is the Artists in the Round art and craft show and sale. As always, this years AITR artisans will offer a wonderful assortment of wares. This year, the Festival will also feature a Young Artists Corner that will feature juried craft show and sale.

A variety of food vendors will also be on hand to provide hearty breakfast, lunch and dinner fare as well as snacks and beverages.
